Call 38 to report stray dogs; if that number does not answer, then call the police department.

To Citizens and Voters of Jones County, Texas.

In expressing my thanks for your past and present support, I submit the following statement.

It has been a great privilege to serve as your sheriff the past seven years and four months. I have worked very hard to render you good service from the Sheriff's Office of Jones County.

I am a graduate of Stamford High School and Hardin-Simmons University where I played football, basketball and competed in track and field events. I am a member and steward of the Methodist Church. I am also a member of the American Legion and Lions Club. My family consists of my wife, the former Estelle Winkles, David, Jr., 13 years, Susan, 11 years, Sharon, 8 years and John Duane, 3 years. I am 46 years of age and am a veteran of World War II.

As my qualifications for the office of Sheriff, Jones County, I offer you my reputation and record plus actual experience as a law enforcement officer.

The duties of the Sheriff's office have been heavy and to me my duty comes first; consequently, I have not made an extensive political campaign. My pledge is honest, impartial and effective service. Sincerely, I solicit your vote and influence for re-election.

Thanks
Dave Reeves

Will Wilson Seeking Re-election As State Attorney

Attorney General Will Wilson will be on the Democratic Primary election ballot Saturday, May 7, as a candidate for re-election to the post in which he has distinguished himself as a vigorous law enforcement official and outstanding chief legal officer for the state of Texas.

Wilson has won nationwide recognition as Attorney General of Texas for his concerted and effective drives to rid the state of organized racketeering, loan sharks who prey on needy people, anti-trust or price - fixing law violations and illegal medical practitioners.

Wilson declared it is his firm belief that a healthy climate for the progress and prosperity of Texas can be maintained only through solid enforcement of the laws of Texas.

"In the Attorney General's race this year there is only one central issue involved — whether Texans shall continue to vigorous law enforcement," Will Wilson said this week.

"We have conducted our campaign for re-election on a high plane be fitting the high office we seek. The organized forces of the loan sharks, racketeers, medical quacks and price-fixers we have fought so often in the courts the last three years are fighting us on every turn in the campaign. Reason: They will use any means to see us out of the Attorney General's Office.

Beauty seems to be determined more by the way you make up your mind than by the way you make up your face.

To the Citizens of Jones County, Texas:

As candidate for Tax Assessor-Collector of Jones County, I wish to give you my qualifications, which is your privilege and responsibility, as voters, to consider as adequate or not.

My family moved to the Tuxedo Community in Jones County when I was 6 months of age. My home has been here since that time.

I graduated from Stamford High School in 1936 and attended Draughon's Business College in Dallas and Abilene for one year. I was Traveling Auditor for the Rule-Jayton Cotton Oil Company of Stamford, Texas for a period of approximately 3 years prior to World War II.

I served in the U. S. Navy during World War II for a period of 4 years and 3 months. As a Naval Aviation Cadet, I had schooling in various subjects for one year. I also had clerical work in handling payroll funds and supplies aboard ship for two years.

Since being honorably discharged from the Navy, I have farmed, worked part time for the Department of Agriculture, and kept books for a local cotton gin for two seasons.

Since most of you know that the duties and responsibilities of the Tax Assessor-Collector involve the handling of funds and accounts for public funds, I feel that my education, training and business experience help to qualify me for this office.

I married the former Peggy Pivetz of Stamford and we have two boys, 3 and 4 years of age. We are members and attend the Central Presbyterian Church of Stamford, Texas.

Due to the limitation of time, there are many of you who I will not be able to personally contact, and hope that you will take this personal solicitation for your vote and influence.

Sincerely submitted,

A. J. French

Cutting Calories for Reducing Should Be Done with Discretion

"Cutting Calories" is a popular subject these days, but many of us cut the wrong foods out of our diet when we launch our own weight control programs by simply cutting calories.

Every food contains some calories, the fuel needed to keep us moving. But some foods contain so many nutrients, vitamins, minerals and proteins that every calorie is virtually "loaded," according to Mary Y. Newberry, Jones County home demonstration agent.

Calories in meat, eggs, vegetables, fruits, milk and whole grain or enriched cereals are loaded with important nutrients. That's why these foods should be included—even in reducing diets.

Foods that contain a lot of fat or sugar have less of the nutrients, but are high in calories. Excess calories can pile on pounds while your body is starving for some of the needed vitamins, minerals and proteins.

Learn to choose "loaded" calories. It can mean better health, an improved morale and appearance. The Texas food standard lists foods needed daily. Get a copy of this from your home demonstration agent's office.

He said experts predict that weather observing satellites would not only enable scientists to forecast normal weather conditions, but quickly detect the threat of disastrous floods, earth sweeping windstorms and crop killing droughts.

Johnston, chairman of the Senate committee on aeronautical and space sciences, said committee witnesses estimated radio communication satellites, probably not in final form would be developed within five or six years.

No one, he said, could predict all the uses to which satellites will be put. However, he quoted space scientists as predicting satellites will soon serve as a vital link in world-wide communication, for increasingly accurate weather forecasting, in mapping and navigation, and, finally, in space travel itself.

"These are the goals to which our nation is moving—the peaceful crossing for the benefit of all mankind" of the space frontier, Johnston said.

Traffic Deaths in Texas Continue to Show Reduction

Texas traffic deaths continued to show a sharp reduction through the tenth week of 1960 as compared with the same period of 1959.

Governor Price Daniel said the weekly report from the statistical services of the Department of Public Safety through Friday, March 11, showed 111 fewer deaths during the first 10 weeks of 1960 compared with the first 10 weeks of 1959.

Traffic took 281 lives thus far in 1960, compared with 392 for the same date last year, the governor stated.

This was a reduction of 28 per cent.

Governor Daniel said the DPS believes that, barring unforeseen circumstances, a reduction in 1960 traffic deaths over the 1959 toll of 2,467 seems likely, although it is still too early in the year to claim that such a trend has been established.

"There is no doubt in my mind," the governor said, "that Texans are taking their traffic safety responsibilities more seriously than ever before. When we see reports as much improved as that for January, 1960, we can certainly feel encouraged. The January report from DPS showed 35 per cent fewer traffic deaths, 18 per cent fewer reported traffic injuries, 54 per cent fewer traffic crashes and 50 per cent reduction in estimated economic losses.

"It seems clear that some definite progress is being made, and I sincerely hope and believe that Texas drivers have come to a permanent realization of the dangers they create when they fail or refuse to obey the traffic laws designed for their safety."

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford

By-Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association
AUSTIN, Tex. — Saturday is "speak now or forever hold your peace day in Texas."

Or, to say the least, the voter who does not express an opinion at the polls and precinct conventions this week should hold his peace about what happens in Texas during the next two years.

A number of important decisions as to office holders will be made Saturday. Once made, there's final — for two years or even four years.

At this point in the campaigns, almost all candidates and their supporters believe that if there is a big enough turnout Saturday, their side will win handsily. And those who aren't pleased with the way things turn out likely will blame it on those who don't bother to vote.

Equally as important as the primaries are the precinct conventions to be held the same day. This is the only means by which the individual voter can participate in the selection of the presidential nominee.

New highway signs, bigger and more colorful than any used before will begin appearing soon on the interstate highways in Texas.

Highway Commission has ordered the posting of route markers and guide signs on 707 miles of interstate highway now completed or under construction in the state.

Conspicuously absent in this marking system will be stop signs. Completion of the 41,000 mile system of controlled access roads will make possible coast-to-coast and border-to-border driving without a stop sign or traffic light.

Motorists soon will become familiar with the interstate marker — a red, white and blue shield. Texas as Highway Department designed the shield which later was adopted for the entire national system.

All markers and guide signs will be larger than usual. Advance exit signs will be placed about two miles ahead of interchanges to give motorists plenty of time to plan their next move.

Guide signs will have white letters and symbols on a green background, and signs for rest and service areas will have green letters on a reflectorized white background. Warning and yield signs will remain in the familiar yellow and black but will grow in dimensions.

Texas leads the nation in the number of miles of interstate highways completed and under way. Texas' allotment is 3,033 miles of which 687 are finished and 259 are in some stage of progress.

SCHOOLS' SHARE DOWN—Texas is spending a smaller proportion of its tax revenue on education now than it did 10 years ago.

This statement was issued by the Texas State Teachers Association in support of its drive for enactment of the Hale-Akin program for school improvement.

In 1958-59, says the report, Texas spent 29.67 cents of each tax dollar for public school education. In the last completed school year the percentage was 27.68 cents of each dollar.

During that period public school spending more than doubled—from $156,000,000 to $322,000,000—to keep pace with a 51 per cent increase in students and 49 per cent increase in teachers. But spending for other purposes increased faster.

Gov. Price Daniel again has said that he would like to call a special session after the elections to erase the deficit and raise teachers' pay. But he also said it would depend on getting agreement from legislators.

PROFIT PREDICTED — When everything is finally cleared up, the state will come out with a profit of $50,000—perhaps more—on land involved in the Veterans Land Board scandals.

This prediction was made by Land Commissioner Bill Alcorn who called $50,000 a conservative figure.

He said that $1,725,000 has already been recovered from fraudulent land deals and that $1,679,000 more is outstanding but fully secured.

When the entire $3,404,000 is recovered, said Alcorn, the state will have a comfortable margin above what was involved in the original transactions.

COSTLY ERROR—Texas Supreme Court has returned to district court for re-trial a case involving a $100,000 mistake in arithmetic.

An employee of an Arlington contractor made the error in submitting a bid of $534,175 instead of $634,226 to the local school board for a school building job. After the bid was accepted by the board, the contractor discovered the error and refused to carry out the contract.

Board then awarded the bid to the second low bidder and sued the first contractor for the $38,278 difference between the second low bid and the bid they had first accepted.

Supreme Court members disagree on the case, wrote three different opinions, but all agreed it should be re-tried.

Mixed Cotton Quality in Bales Hurts Price Level of Many Texas Producers

Well in advance of the beginning of another ginning season, it might be well for Texas cotton growers to consider and remember the results of a recent study on money losses resulting from mixed quality cotton bales, declares John C. White, commissioner of the Texas Department of Agriculture, this week in a release to The Herald.

The study was made by the Agricultural Marketing Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and showed that in a single season cotton farmers lost an estimated $2,400,000 because of mixed quality bales.

The AMS found the situation basically to be this: When cotton is sampled for grading, a small amount of lint is taken from each side of the bale, and both parts are classed. If the quality is different on the two sides, the farmer is paid on the basis of the lower quality—even though most of the bale may be higher.

Cotton shippers also lost money in payments to warehousemen for special handling of the mixed bales. Some warehouses reopened the bales, resampled and rebaled them with the low quality lint removed. Usually, the benefits were not enough to defray the costs.

The AMS reported that most frequently it is the ginners who get the blame for mixed bales because they often combine cotton from two different growers, but the study showed actually that it is the farmer who is most often responsible. It was found that 61 per cent of the mixed quality bales was brought to the gins as mixed seed cotton, with only 29 per cent being mixed by the gins.

The problem of mixed quality cotton, of course, can never be entirely eliminated because it is impossible for farmers always to bring in loads with the same quality of cotton throughout. Weather conditions cause certain differences, and cotton from two different fields may have to be combined to make up a load.

However, the AMS made two principal suggestions: First, farmers can be more careful to reduce mixing cotton of different qualities; and, second, ginners in starting a new bale should see to it that their presses are not turned before all the cotton from one farmer's load has been baled.

During one recent season, it was estimated that nearly half a million bales of cotton were of mixed quality. About 70 per cent of these came from Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas, where only 37 per cent of the year's production was ginned.

PETTY CASH.

A wealthy Texan tipped a waiter $100 in a New York restaurant.

"Pardon me," gasped the astonished man. "You gave me $100. There must be some mistake."

"That should teach you a lesson," complained the Texan. "The next time I come in I hope I'll get some better service."

Another of life's tragedies is that we get old too young, and wise too old.

GI Insurance Policy Holders Urged to See If Beneficiaries Right

GI insurance policy-holders, some 6,000,000 strong, were urged today to check their records to be sure that their designated beneficiaries are up to date, according to a release from the Veterans Administration to The Herald.

The law gives GI policy-holders the right to change their beneficiaries at any time without the consent of the prior beneficiaries VA said.

But unless the change is officially made, no choice is given to the VA but to pay the claim to the beneficiary of record.

Carelessness in designating the beneficiaries may result in undesired consequences, VA pointed out. An example is the veteran who designated his wife as beneficiary. She divorced him, and he subsequently married again and raised a family.

Should he neglect to change his designated beneficiary before he dies, his insurance may be paid to his former wife, and his widow and children will receive nothing.

Policy-holders also have several different options as to how the insurance shall be paid. Explanation of these options can be obtained by contacting any VA office.

They are: berg, girl, kangri, kuh, kalima, mir, monte, nevada, san, shan, tagh, ula and yama.

Perryman, 70, Retired Farmer Buried Thursday

Funeral services for J. W. Perryman, Sr., 70, were held Tuesday 3:00 p. m. at the Faith Methodist Church. A retired farmer, Mr. Perryman passed away at the Hamlin Hospital at 4:25 p. m. on Tuesday. He had been a patient here one day. He had been in ill health for about four years.

Officiating ministers were Rev. Brown, pastor, and Rev. Leonard A. Hartley, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

Burial was in the Hamlin East cemetery directed by Hamlin Funeral Home.

Born James Washington Perryman Nov. 9, 1890 in Freestone Co., Texas, his parents were Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Perryman.

He was married to Carrie Phillips on Dec. 19, 1909, in Leon County, Texas.

Survivors are his wife, two sons, Leo and Hamlin, Edell of Irving; three sisters, Mrs. Annie Knight of Sherman, Mrs. Etta Page of Whiteoak, Mrs. Nettie Roberts of Corpus Christi, a half sister, Mrs. Johnnie Mullins of Turkey, Texas.

County Agent Warns To Check Pecan Trees

It is time to start checking your pecan trees for the pecan nut casebearer according to county agent, Kirby Clayton.

The adult moths lay their eggs on the tip ends of the young cluster of nutlets. The eggs hatch in 3-5 days into a young casebearer. The young bearer feeds on the tender shoots for about a week and then comes back to the nutlets and bores into the individual nuts for his development stages.

It is while the young worm is feeding on the tender shoots that spraying is most effective. Clayton recommends three pounds of 50% wettable DDT powder and 2 pounds of Zineb in 100 gallons water or a Malathion, Zineb combination according to directions on the container.

Be sure the time is right before spraying, says Clayton.

three half brothers, Charlie, Curtis and Julius, all of Rule, and two grandchildren. A son, J. W. Perryman, Jr., died Oct. 8, 1959.

Palbearers were Johnnie Agnew, Orville Waymire, Elmer Stoner, Leonard Johnson, E. C. Burnett and Olin Amerson.

New Findings in Control of Weevils May Be Economy

Hamlin area cotton farmers, as well as those of the rest of Texas, will be interested in recent finding of new methods for controlling boll weevils, in view of the toll these and other insects have taken from recent cotton production in the territory.

A late season chemical and cultural control program at College Station in 1959 showed promise in reducing the overwintered population of boll weevils. This reduction appears to be great enough to delay the start of boll weevil control programs the following year to effect substantial savings in insecticide costs.

Program consists of chemical treatments just prior to and during the harvest period to prevent the weevil from going into diapause, the physiological condition in which they survive the winter. These insecticide treatments are followed by stalk destruction if harvest is completed before frost kills the cotton.

Results obtained to date indicate this practice may be an effective eradication measure, according to Dr. J. R. Brazzel, associate professor in Texas A. & M. College department of entomology, who worked on the project. He said the chemical and cultural program was used in an isolated 18-acre cotton field, about four miles from a cotton field of five acres and more than 10 miles from large acreages of cotton.

Insecticides used were methyl parathion, toxaphene, DDT and pentachlorophenol. They were applied over a two-month period, at five-day intervals during the growing season and every seven to nine days during the late season before defoliation.

This experiment will be continued in 1960, and if the final results are as favorable as the data obtained to date indicate, this chemical and cultural control program late in the season may offer a means for eradication or greatly reducing the boll weevil populations.

Complete results of the program are contained in the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station's new report, "A New Method for the Control of Boll Weevils." Write the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, for a copy. Ask for PR-210.

IT'S THE LAW IN TEXAS

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts, because the facts may change the application of the law.)
A Public Service Feature of the State Bar of Texas

INSURANCE LAWS STRENGTHENED.

The last regular session of the Texas Legislature passed a law (Articles 1.02 to 1.09, inclusive, insurance code) establishing a three-man State Board of Insurance with a single commissioner of insurance as the administrative head. This regulatory set-up replaced the Board of Insurance Commissioners of Texas.

The old law provided that neither the actuary, examiners or assistant examiners working under the Board of Insurance Commissioners should continue in office if they accepted directly or indirectly any employment, pay, compensation or gratuity from any insurance company (Article 1.17, insurance code). Except for the general law against bribery, dismissal from duty was the penalty and such penalty apparently did not apply as against board members.

The law establishing the new State Board of Insurance makes it a penitentiary offense for any member of the state board or the commissioner of insurance or any employee or agent to accept anything of value or sell to or buy from any insurance company or its agents anything of value. The insurance code) that every report also is guilty of a penitentiary offense if he proposes any such forbidden act (Article 1.09-3 insurance code).

To further strengthen the penal (criminal) laws, provisions were added (Articles 21.47 and 21.48, insurance code) that every report or document required to be made or filed under the insurance code should be verified by a written declaration that it is made under the penalties of perjury. Any person wilfully making such a report or document falsely shall upon conviction be fined the sum of $5,000 and imprisoned for not less than two nor more than five years.

New powers also were given for regulating life insurance policies. Heretofore the law provided for the filing of life insurance policy forms and required that certain provisions be included and others be prohibited (Articles 3.43 to 3.45, inclusive, insurance code). When those do's and don'ts were met, the board had little or no authority to disapprove other policy provisions.

The new law (Article 3.42, insurance code) places the duty upon the insurance commissioner to disapprove any life insurance policy and to withdraw any previous approval if "it contains provisions which encourage misrepresentation or are unjust, unfair, inequitable, misleading, deceptive or contrary to law or to the public policy of this state."

Some time ago there was prepared a model law for presentation to the Legislatures of the various states to prohibit unfair competition and deceptive practices in the insurance business. Laws patterned after this uniform or model bill have been passed in a number of states. Texas passed such a law at the last regular session, which is quite comprehensive in its regulation of the advertising and sale of insurance (Article 21.21, insurance code).

KNOWS HIS FRACTIONS — Tommy Stewart shows his teacher, Mrs. Mabel Thomson, that he knows his fractions. He proved it by lighting up the flashlight bulb by picking two-thirds as the reduced fractional equivalent of four-sixths as his answer to a "fractions are fun" drill in the sixth grade classroom at Gary Elementary School in Tyler. Tommy is the 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stewart.

CONGRATULATIONS.

A department store received the following letter from a couple to whom its billing department had written, requesting payment for a long overdue bill:

"Gentlemen: We have received your letter of the 23rd and would like you to know we have divided our creditors into three groups: (1) Those who will be paid promptly; (2) those who will be paid sometime; and (3) those who never be paid. You will be happy to know that, because of the friendly tone of your letter, we have promoted you from Group 2 to Group 1."

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

By Vern Sanford.
Continuing the discussion begun in last week's Herald about the barometric pressure on fish... For example, let's assume that our fish are 10 feet deep and the barometer is very low at 29.50. This means that the pressure on the fish is about 18.80 pounds per square inch. All of a sudden (which never happens) the barometer reading jumps to a very high 30.50. If the fish remain at 10 feet, the pressure on them will increase half a pound per square inch. But if they rise to nine feet, the pressure will remain the same because the fish compensate for the increased air pressure by reducing the water pressure, the latter being lower at higher water levels. See?

That's just to indicate how studious some of the sharpies can be. Actually, a steady, high or rising barometer simply means that we can expect fair weather for awhile. If there is a weather reporter on your local radio or television station, check him for good indications about what weather to expect for the next couple of days.

A bright sky is considered best for fishing generally. One that is beginning to be overcast ranks next. But there are so many variants here that it would take a week to cover all of them.

In case of doubt, settle for a clear bright day. You've got at least half of the factors in your favor. Besides, it's more pleasant for you.

Air temperature should be mild for an optimum. But the water temperature is more important, because that's where the fish are. They go where it's neither too hot nor too cold.

A black bass likes the same temperature you do—68 to 70 degrees suits him just fine. If you want to be precise, test the temperature at various levels by lowering a thermometer into the water. It could very well pay you for the trouble.

It's also said to be advantageous if the surface of the water is rippled because under these circumstances you can better approach the fish without his seeing you.

Calm water is okay if you use care in moving up to your fishing spot and in presenting your lure. Choppy water may be favorable, but avoid whitecaps.

The ancients said that a south or west wind was best for fishing; east not so good; and north lousy. Maybe so. Calm weather is about right. A light breeze won't hurt anything, a strong wind is not so good, and who wants to go fishing in a storm?

Our favorite saying is, "Wind from the west, fishing the best; wind from the east, fishing the least."

If you're tired of huffing and puffing over a hand winch, you can make banking your boat onto a trailer a thing of the past.

Big boat trailering is made easy and effortless with the 1960 Ultra-Matic Powerwinch.

You just pull a string to turn on the power and Powerwinch does the rest. The "start-stop" string also acts as a remote control, letting you guide your boat from any point.

Manufacturer says the unit can be mounted easily on any trailer. It uses juice from a 12-volt auto battery and comes equipped with 25 feet of aircraft cable.

Water ski enthusiasts should be interested in the new Ski-Reel, now being marketed by Haston Marine, Inc. of Anderson, Indiana.

In a way it resembles the ladder shaped boards on which small fishing line often is wrapped. However, this handy device is molded of polyethylene, and although it is many times larger than a fishing line holder it weighs only eight ounces, and floats.

It is designed for reeling in the ski rope and storing it neatly until the next time out.

Two Hamlin Girls Honored by FHA

Two Hamlin girls were honored last week in Austin at the State Meeting of the Texas Association, Future Homemakers of America.

Ann Richey, state corresponding secretary 1959-60 received a State FHA Degree which is the highest honor given by the organization. 354 girls were awarded degrees and were guests at a tea at the governor's mansion at Austin, Mrs. Joe B. Stephens was awarded an honorary membership for outstanding services rendered to the chapters in Jones County.

MODERN EDUCATION.

Two first graders stood talking in the school playground during recess when a jet plan flew over. "Look at that," said one, "it's a BX-50."

"No, a BX-51," commented the other. "You can tell by its wing sweep."

"You're right," conceded the first youngster. "But it's not going more than 760 miles per hour because it didn't break the sound barrier."

The second lad agreed on this point and remarked, "It's amazing the pressure that develops on those planes when they go into a dive—almost 1,200 pounds per square inch."

point and remarked, "It's amazing the pressure that develops on those planes when they go into a dive—almost 1,200 pounds per square inch."

Then the school bell rang indicating the end of recess and the first boy sighed, "Let's go back in and finish stringing those darn beads."

Behold the Ant.

Science tells us that the strongest thing in the world for its size is the common red ant. This marvel of nature can lift 10 times its own weight.

As strong as the red ant may be, it has been proven that the most powerful thing for its size is the little want ad in your local newspaper.

The want ad, which costs only a few cents a day, does a hundred-fold job. This mighty mite of the printed page finds jobs for folks, sells used lawnmowers, rents houses, sells farms, loans money, finds missing persons, locates lost dogs, rents appliances, thanks folks, locates homes for surplus puppies, and performs a hundred and one useful services for the community.

Farm Land in Hamlin Territory and Most of Texas Continues in Demand

Farm land in the Hamlin territory continues to be in demand, and prices are being maintained on an increasing level, real estate men and others declare.

The decade of the 1950s saw a boom in Texas farm land prices which prompted frequent and free predictions from many an old-timer that a bust could not be far behind.

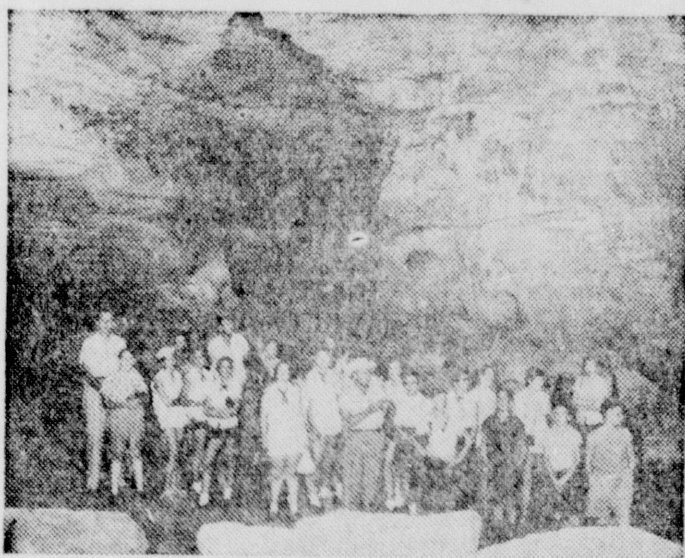

There was nothing approaching a bust of course, even in the drought ridden middle 50s. And, as the new decade of the 1960s gets underway, there are no real signs to indicate that the boom actually has even reached its peak.

Farmers may and probably will continue to complain of lower farm prices and increasing costs —which is well justified by current facts and figures. Some farm families probably will continue to forsake the land and its discouragements, although the number driven away from the farms to the cities is not nearly as high as during the drought years.

But the value of the land itself appears to be holding a remarkably steady trend, and this is observed in nearly all areas of Texas, declares John C. White, commissioner of the Texas Department of Agriculture. Prevailing prices of farm and ranch land generally is higher than can actually be justified by its value for crop or livestock production.

The factors combining to produce this situation also have developed another overall condition which is often observed and pointed out in many sections of Texas. The condition is this: More and more land over the state is becoming tightly held and to all practical purposes taken off the market altogether, automatically cutting down the quantity of biddable land available to influence any market fluctuation.

The top strengthening factor in price determination of farm and ranch land, not only in Texas but in most other agricultural states, is the vast increase in population to be considered against the fixed amount of land available. In Texas, this more or less simple situation of supply and demand is intensified by the more than normal growth in population.

During the past two decades, the trend of farm folk flocking to the middle sized and big cities in Texas also has had a reverse reaction—a notable rise in weekend farming and ranching. Money from Texas industry and commerce in the cities has found its way back to the land in an ever increasing volume—no accurate measurement has yet been taken of just how large the volume might be, but the effect on farm land values is bound to have been considerable.

The boom-and-bust predictions of the old-timers are not likely to get more verification in the 1960s than in the 1950s.

Recently a loggerhead turtle, a native to Mexico, turned up in England, some 8,700 miles away. Suppose he took a free ride on the Gulf Stream?

Nearly 1,000,000 Dies in Traffic at Hands of Speeders

Despite anti-speeding campaigns that were conducted in many parts of the United States during the past year, nearly 1,000,000 men, women and children were 1959 victims of the fast driver.

The Travelers Insurance Companies in its statistical report describing what happened on our highways during 1959, stated that drivers exceeding the speed limit were involved in 43.1 per cent of the fatalities while speeding drivers figured in 38.8 per cent of the traffic injuries.

Of the 37,600 traffic deaths during the year, 12,980 were the direct result of drivers exceeding the speed limit. No other single action of drivers was even close to the grim record of speed.

Cited as causing 4,790 deaths during 1959 were the drivers on the wrong side of the road. Their mistakes accounted for 15.9 per cent of the death toll. The driver who did not have the right-of-way caused more than half a million people to suffer injuries—22.8 per cent of the injury toll.

In its highway safety booklet being distributed to more than 3,000,000 persons, the Travelers reports that more than 900 additional deaths occurred on our highways during 1959 as compared with the preceding year. Injuries soared to 2,870,000, reflecting an increase of nearly 50,000.

GENERAL SALES TAX

On June 27, 1959, Pages 104-107, and on July 23, 1959, Pages 133-134 of the Texas House Journal, the present state representative, seeking re-election voted in favor of a general sales tax during the several legislative "do nothing" sessions last year, that lasted seven months at a cost of $13,000.00 a day. One state's legislature passed a 1 per cent general sales tax not too many years ago. It has mushroomed to a 6 per cent general sales tax at the present time.

Are we to believe that Texas would only have a temporary 2 per cent general sales tax? Once it is passed, the legislature would always see fit to add another 1 per cent for one thing or another.

Many people assume the attitude "what's the use, it's coming anyway." This is far from the truth, however much the Texas Manufacturers Association would like to have you believe this. They want the little people of Texas to pay their taxes for them! Someone once said that all that is required for the triumph of evil is for good men to do nothing, and their publicity has been geared to this axiom.

The fact is that adequate state financing can, must and will be worked out without making involuntary tax collectors out of every small business man in Texas at a cost approximating the total of the tax collected. All that is required is a little effort on the part of the vast majority of people who believe that a general sales tax is inequitable and uneconomical.

If the present state representative seeking re-election cannot be trusted to effectively represent the people of this area in the general sales tax matter, can he be trusted to oppose a state income tax and other unfair taxation?

A VOTE FOR KEITH C. WHEATLEY FOR STATE REPRESENTATIVE IS A VOTE AGAINST A GENERAL SALES TAX, STATE INCOME TAX AND OTHER UNFAIR TAXATION.

REA

On March 31, 1959, Page 1077 of the Texas House Journal the present state representative seeking re-election voted against the REA.

Some people have charged that "Rural Electric Cooperatives do not pay taxes on the same basis as their competitors." The inference here is that the cooperatives are operating in competition to the utility companies and that they are tax dodgers. Both of these are false as can be.

The cooperatives are not in competition to any individual or group of individuals.

The rural electric program was authorized by Congress for the purpose of providing electric service in rural areas where service was unobtainable otherwise. Rural electric cooperatives were organized all over the United States for the specific purpose of extending electric service into rural areas where electric service was not obtainable otherwise. The cooperatives are not permitted to go into any area where electric service already exists. The situation with the utility companies is quite different. They can go into any rural area even though the cooperative serving that area has lines all over the area, and take over the area. If there is competition, it seems that the utility companies are the aggressors. Last year during the time the legislature was in session our state was flooded with propaganda to the effect that the cooperatives were trying to take over the towns and cities. The ones who put out this propaganda knew that it was false.

In the last two sessions of the Texas legislature the Electric cooperatives have sought a law which would give them rights equal to other suppliers in areas as which the co-ops have developed and already serve. It was bottled up and killed by delay and evasion. The present state representative from this district voted against the interest of the rural electric cooperatives.

Without the equal rights in their own territory which this bill would have given, the co-ops are at the mercy of any other utility. As soon as the areas which the co-ops have developed become profitable, the large power companies can come in while the law ties the hands of the co-ops.

The big companies are unrestricted in their rights—under Texas Law—to take away a member from any cooperative. But, the co-ops are then forbidden by law ever to take this member back, even if the member wants to come back. In other words, the co-ops can never take a customer—any customer—from a utility company.

When the full consequences of this situation are understood, it must be recognized as unfair.

The cooperatives are prohibited by law from serving any town or city having more than 1500 inhabitants.

Rural electric cooperatives pay city, state, school, road, sales, gasoline, and in fact every tax exactly like every one else, except income tax. Rural electric cooperatives are non profit organizations. The laws under which they operate prohibit the organization itself from making a profit, therefore, since income tax is paid on profit, there is no income tax.

Rural electrification is a glowing example of what can be done by cooperative effort when all other means have failed, and having accomplished so much, it means more pride and a greater self-respect on the part of millions of rural Americans.

For 25 years the rural electrification program has made remarkable progress in spite of the prediction by certain groups that it could not possibly succeed. Those who have worked at the task of securing electric service in the rural areas know what it means to be without it, and to these its worth is far greater than it is to those who take the service as just a matter of fact. The accomplishments of the past must be protected in the future, or else they may very likely be lost.

If the present state representative seeking re-election cannot be trusted to effectively represent Texas rural areas in the REA matter, can he be trusted to represent the rural areas in all other necessary legislation in the future?

A VOTE FOR KEITH C. WHEATLEY FOR STATE REPRESENTATIVE IS A VOTE FOR THE REA AND RURAL AREAS OF OUR STATE.

OLD AGE ASSISTANCE

On May 6, 1959, Page 2634 of the Texas House Journal, the present state representative seeking re-election voted against tax relief for our state's elder citizens.

Yet, six days later on May 12, 1959, Page 3019 of the Texas House Journal, the present state representative voted in favor of a pay increase for himself!

And on two other votes to increase funds for old age assistance the present state representative was absent.

Since the present state representative's voting record proves that he does not care to provide adequate assistance for our state's elder citizens, let's ask ourselves these questions:

1. Why did he vote to increase his salary and other legislator's salaries by some $300,000?

2. Wouldn't this $300,000 be spent more wisely for old age assistance or some other worthy cause?

3. Why was not the command of Texas voters by constitutional amendment for medical assistance to aged citizens of Texas honored by legislative action?

4. Was the legislature too concerned with its own pocket-book?

5. Does any action of the record show any effort by your present state representative to help the aged citizens of Texas? NO. IT DOES NOT!

IF THE PRESENT STATE REPRESENTATIVE CANNOT BE TRUSTED TO EFFECTIVELY REPRESENT OUR STATE'S ELDER CITIZENS, CAN HE BE TRUSTED IN THE FUTURE TO EFFECTIVELY REPRESENT OUR ELDER CITIZENS IN ALL NECESSARY BENEFITS?

A VOTE FOR KEITH C. WHEATLEY FOR STATE REPRESENTATIVE IS A VOTE FOR THE RIGHTS OF THE ELDER CITIZENS OF TEXAS.

THIS GAME OF COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT is more than a game. It is as real as life itself. No team ever gains more than its members are willing to work for. It takes all of them working together, each doing his fair share, determined to reach the goal—which is better community life for everyone.

HAMLIN CANNOT AFFORD to lose any more ground. It must put up an all-out effort and make a goal line stand just to stay on the same field for the next few years. It needs all its citizens on the team who are willing to do their part.
